VINEYARD DESCRIPTION

The grapevines are from 2 to 21 years old.

Root depth can reach up to 5 meters. The older the vine, the deeper the roots.

The vines are primarily of Ukrainian origin, though there are Serbian vines (Cabernet) and German vines (Chardonnay).

Soils: Southern black soils and dark chestnut soils.

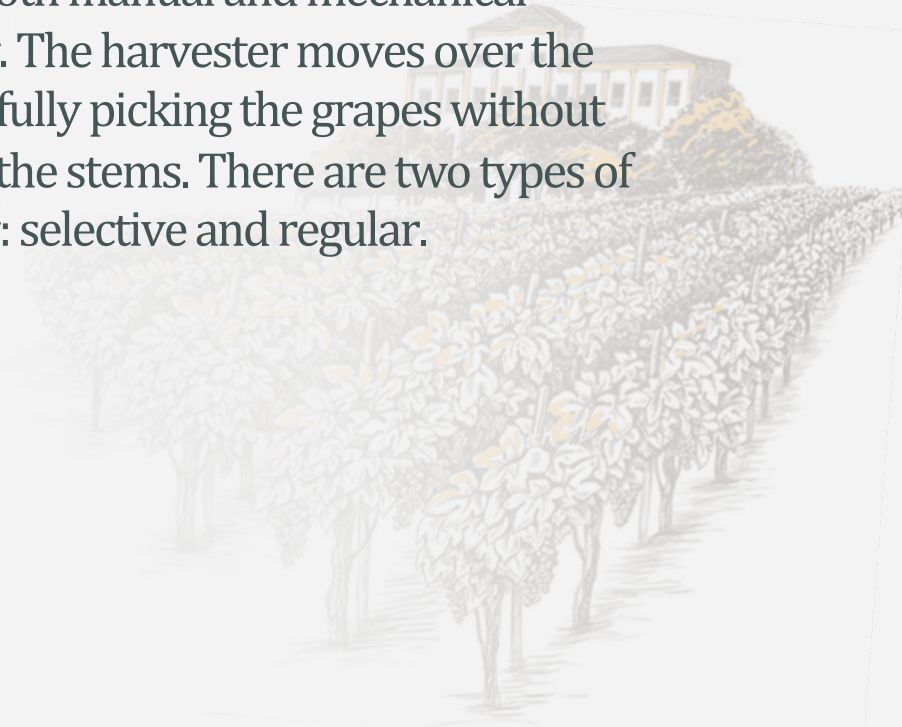

Summer temperatures average around 25°C, while winter temperatures are close to 0°C.

The vineyards are situated at an elevation of 14 to 27 meters above sea level.

The vineyards in Koblevo are planted in neat, straight rows following the European style, allowing both manual and mechanical harvesting. The harvester moves over the vines, carefully picking the grapes without damaging the stems. There are two types of harvesting: selective and regular.

SELECT WINE SERIES

Selective harvesting is done for the Select wine line, where white grapes are picked at night. Scientific studies have shown that from 3 AM to 10 AM, grapes concentrate their aroma and flavors the most because the grapes are at rest and not expending energy. For Select wines, workers with special lighting pick the best grapes at night, a process known as selective harvesting.

Select wine line is distinguished by the use of a single (dominant) grape variety, harvested by hand and using cold bottling technology. Koblevo Select features only dry table wines.

SELECT WINE SERIES

Koblevo Select wines are made exclusively from grapes grown in specific vineyard areas and harvested by hands.

This line is distinguished by the use of a single (dominant) grape variety, harvested by hand and using cold bottling technology. Koblevo Select features only dry table wines.

Koblevo Select Merlot has been selected as the brand ambassador to represent all Merlot wines from Ukraine at La Cite du Vin, the renowned cultural wine heritage centre in Bordeaux, France.
